

Education Element

Giving feedback effectively in the clinical environment

- Scenario As the senior resident on an inpatient team, you review notes written by
- Perspectives from the literature
  - Feedback initiated by or jointly with learners is seen as more instructive than initiated primarily by teachers.
  - Learners report that constructive feedback focuses on behaviors they can change, not on the person or their personality
  -